Can you give me a call? I just tried to reach you without success.

We are reviewing the schedule you sent yesterday to determine the criticality of the information that you have indicated will not be available this week. We are very concerned that certain information will not be available until late August, including possibly, your submission. The late receipt of this information will have a significant impact on the schedule. We need to discuss this with you, Gilbert and probably Geoff or another lawyer in his absence.

Ok. That makes sense. I reckon they will be getting into project details and maybe cost estimates and so forth.

With respect to the RFI I mentioned yesterday, it really falls more into a System Planning shop than hardcore engineering. So, I think a separate phone call/teleconference would be more targeted.

Please let me know your thoughts, and if the plan sounds good to you, confirm a time/number we can call. (From the scouting I did yesterday, I can confirm that just about anytime this morning works for us.)

Fred has been speaking with Paul Harrington and is to confirm the time of the meeting later today. I understand that at least Paul Harrington and Bob Barnes will be there from Nalcor.

Ok thanks. While I am certainly not in the middle of things and meetings have taken place without my knowledge, I was unaware of any meetings taking place today. Would you happen to know with whom MHI is supposed to meet?

Thanks for the status update which we will now review.

MHI is here today and has meetings scheduled at Nalcor. I will check with them and Fred about the suggested 11 am call. It may be better to have that discussion at the meetings planned for today with Nalcor. I will let you know.
