I think everyone from Nalcor, Emera and Canada are keen to get this discussion underway, and more importantly, I feel that I've developed a pretty good rapport with Joe Adams over the last few days that facilitated getting this short term contract in place and hopefully will be helpful for finding a long term solution....strike while the iron is hot!

Thank you., Jim.

I may call you later on this am re: meeting next week. Given the terms of the yesterday signed contract, I'm not exactly sure if one is needed right away.

Cheers,

Nik

Hi Jim,

Can you please ask Ed Bush to send (to my yahoo.com address) me the current Concrete Pours and Concrete Commodities curves for the CH0007 (Astaldi) contract.

Thank you,
Nik

Jim,

I continue to offer my services to MWH for the LC project.
I have done so consistently since the date I gave notice (April 13th) that I was leaving MWH's employ.

To date we have not been able to come to mutually agreeable contractual terms that will enable me to provide my services in the same manner that I have previously in my capacity as IE to the LC project. This impasse has caused the crisis we now find ourselves in.

In the immediate term, IE services need to be provided to the LC project.

I spoke with Pat last evening and again I offered my services.

He suggested that the only way I could do so was for me to sign the agreement that my lawyer and I see as unacceptable.

I suggested that a simple email from him, as a one off engagement, would suffice to allow me to complete the draw confirmation certificates for the current period.

He said he was not authorized to do this.

Early this morning I received a revised, executed contract from MWH -unfortunately all 3 major points of contention between us remain unchanged.

Regrettably I am left in the same position as before, I cannot sign it without the outstanding revisions incorporated (as put forward several times by my lawyer).

Furthermore, I do not understand why MWH cannot send a simple email to deal with the present draw certificate service requirements.

So I don't know quite honestly where this leaves us for now and the completion of the draw certificates.

It is my hope that our meeting next week will allow all parties to go forward in a positive manner for the long term.

Regards,
Nik
