Thanks. Timing not bad as we will have had the benefit of lender meetings on Tuesday. Plan is to debrief with Canada Wednesday morning. Canada remain focused on the solution that will have least potential market disruption - hopefully this aligns with least cost/ preferred solution for us also - they have not showed their hand on preferred solution yet, but they are clearly focused on exploring the the "market disruption" issues with lenders on Tuesday.

Derrick,

Just a head's up - we'll likely be going to cabinet on Wednesday to get early clearance on the financing - if we don't do it wed, we lose a window. Not sure what we will say yet, but probably something like seeking authority to proceed without further cabinet meeting.
