Questions still remain with sanctioning of Muskrat Falls

Liberal Opposition Leader Dwight Ball is calling today's spectacle on the sanctioning of the Muskrat Falls project nothing but an appeal to the emotions of the people of Newfoundland and Labrador who will ultimately pay the price tag for a 9-billion dollar boondoggle.

"I am astounded that yet again this Premier and her Government has denied the people of the province their right to the complete answers on the Muskrat Falls project," said Ball. "Instead they stage a ceremony of nothing but pomp and circumstance while committing unwilling ratepayers to a project fraught with cost overruns, inaccurate predictions and far too many unknowns."

The decision to sanction Muskrat Falls will impact every single Newfoundlander and Labradorian, for the next 50 years rates for Muskrat Falls power will be paid on the backs of the hard working people of our province.

"The Premier may be concerned with her so-called 'Fortune Generation' as she proudly announced this evening, however her attention should also be on the 'Future Generation' that will ultimately be responsible for the final costs of the Muskrat Falls project," said Ball.

Government still has to resolve environmental approvals and aboriginal claims. While they have denied regulatory oversight of the project, the regulatory process in Nova Scotia is due to start in the new year. There are still many issues at bay and yet Government has moved to sanction Muskrat Falls providing us with yet another example of their negligence and lack of due diligence.

"Government's dubious action to continue to keep the taxpayers of this province in the dark is a total lack of respect," said Ball.
